

Vibe Check Report October 2021

Economy

What type of economy do you enjoy the most?

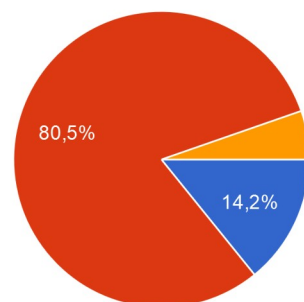

113 svar

- Currency based ($)
- A blend with focus on item trading (Diamonds, etc.)
- Item based (Diamonds, etc.)
- A blend with focus on currency ($)

Is the /fix price fair?

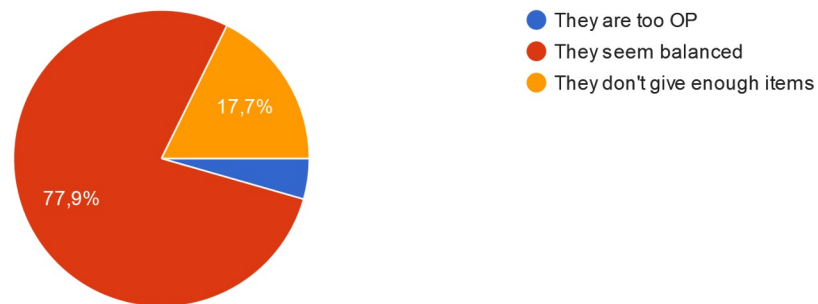

113 svar

- Could be lower
- It's a good price
- Could be higher

How are the crates?

113 svar

If you had to choose, which type of economy would you feel the most motivated by?

113 svar

How motivating is the current economy?

113 svar

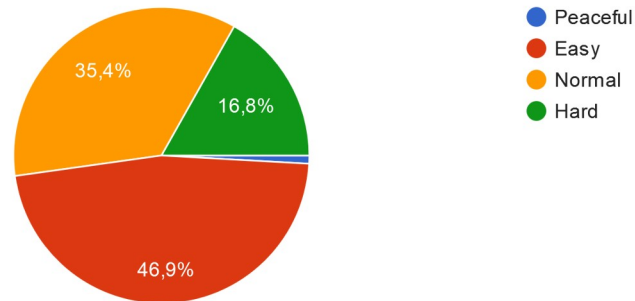

Demotivating - Motivating

In-game experience

If you could choose Grandma's minecraft difficulty, which one would it be?

113 svar

How do you like your in-game chat?

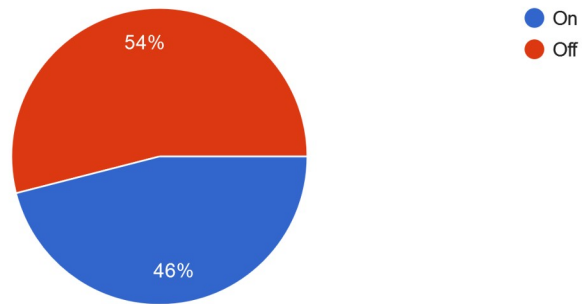

113 svar

Colourful, busy, bright 1 ----- 10 Toned down, calming, slow

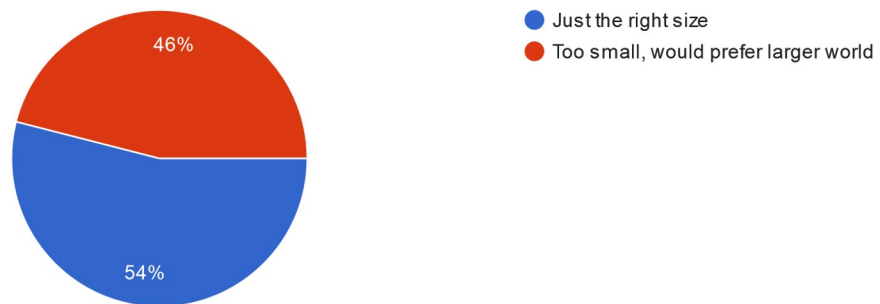

Do you prefer phantoms toggled on or off?

113 svar

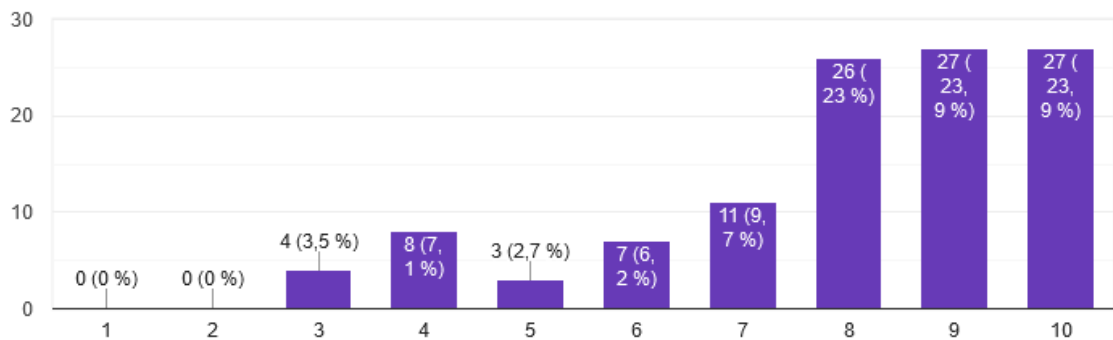

How do you feel about the world size?

113 svar

On a scale, rate the stability of your connection to the server

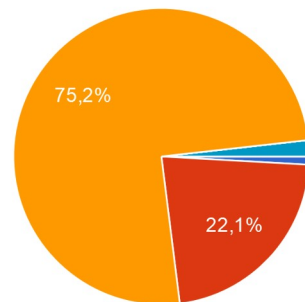

113 svar

Unstable - Stable

What continent are you connecting from?

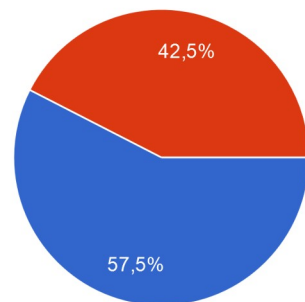

113 svar

- Asia
- Europe
- North America
- South America
- Africa
- Oceania
- Prefer not to answer

The egg plugin has the option of storing data on the eggs that you catch. Should we enable this?

113 svar

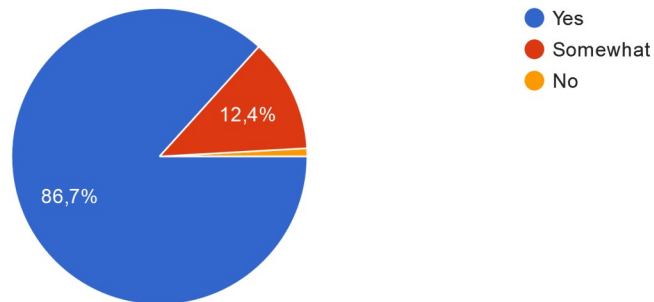

- Yes. Store data on the eggs, so when you spawn them back in they are exactly what you caught
- No. Keep the eggs lore free so I can stack them and sell them easier

Overall Vibes

Are you familiar with the rules? You can answer honestly, this is anonymous

113 svar

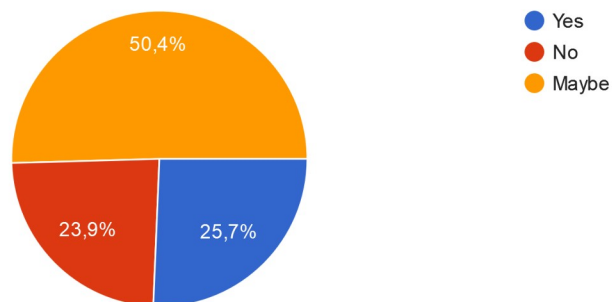

Do you identify on the LGBTQ+ Spectrum and/or questioning

113 svar

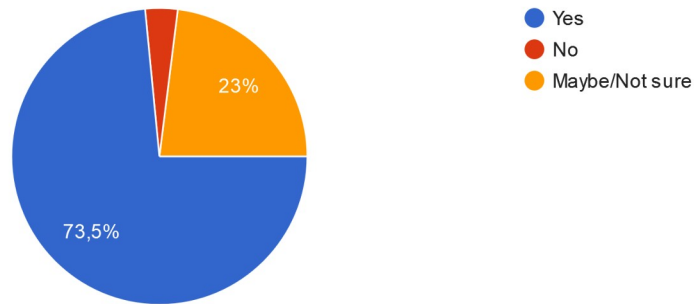

Would you be interested in participating in a 1.18 Hardcore/UHC event?

113 svar

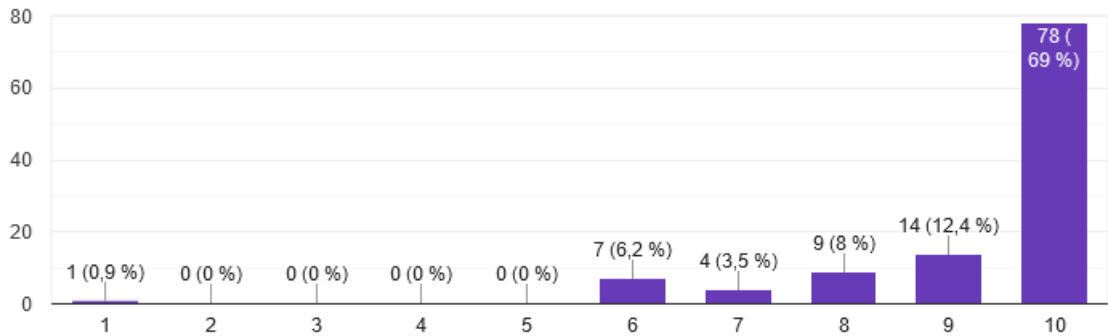

Have you interacted with a person who is staff?

113 svar

Overall, how has your experience with staff people on the server been?

113 svar

Not friendly - Friendly

Is there anything you would like to add that we didn't cover?

maybe have the egg data stuff toggle-able? if that's possible? love you all :D

The mobs as on easy right now scare me everytime i go into a cave and it makes me not want to go into one so i think you should have like two warps,

Easy difficulty and peaceful difficulty with a resource world so we dont destory the world we have now. and resource world is Peaceful.

I can't think of anything.

Nope, this is absolutely perfect, good job 👍

Add the ability to have 3 jobs

Sap and Vibe are the best

Maybe options/opinions on world generation on how much people like it or what they would like from it

Hard Difficulty 😞👉👈

This is more sort of a hypothetical suggestion but I think it would be dope if in-game you could trade items long distance with users, like how you can pay other people. if you could set up a trade, select a specific user, the item maybe out of your inventory, and you can fiddle with it til you both come to an agreement and confirm. money is great and all but it's my nature to trade or straight up give things away for free if someone needs it, and the same kindness has been shown to me countless times, it'd be cool if that was a solid feature somehow.

y'all are great :)

ur mom :)

vibes: checked. good server

No, thank you!

Not currently

sleeping requirement too low so not much chance for night time to last long enough if you need it

You're doing amazing sweeties <3

Nothing

I think we should all get silly hats when we open the beginners kit. Like a random assignment of a weird custom helmet. That would be fun I think you're all wonderful and i blow u kiss

UwU

not rn

We all love the server and staff soo much <3 but when it's too hard to make money, I don't get motivated to play on the server again <3 bcs I'm spending my hours to make mostly 3k in an irl day. Thank you!

nope not really, loving the server so far :) excited to find a server i enjoy after a fairly long hiatus from minecraft, i used to be a buildteam member on an old server that went under so it's nice to get back into building on my own.

nope!

Nope

robin is a bitch ass mother fucker she pissed on my husband (this is Nates answer)

I think staff should be upfront about upcoming changes to the server (as I understand it, staff knew we'd be clearing the world for 1.17, but it felt a bit sad to have to clear the world. If this is on the table for 1.18, we should know sooner rather than later! I would personally recommend making the world bigger for 1.18 with new chunks having natural gen caves and cliffs and so on. I'm not sure how the artificially made biomes would coincide with that. I also think there should be some sort of way to get a /pw without necessarily needing to pay - I appreciate not everybody should be able to get tons as it would lead to a lot of bad warps, but it could work if you could 'apply for a grant' from Grandma where you tell a staff member and they check out the build, what it contributes to the server, and if the player is willing to cover some of the cost. This way, people who aren't interested in playing the economy game, but who still want to showcase their work, are able to do so without needing to save up for ages. This would especially help to encourage smaller, detail-oriented builds of high quality. The grant system could coincide with a new style of /pw - I used to play in a server which had a book of all the warps, which was a good way to offer a compendium to explore. I'm building a very small build with the hopes of having a banner shop within, and I don't especially want to have to save up for ages to get the chance to have people come over and explore. Thank you :)

I am actually not familiar with the /fix price so take that answer with a grain of salt LOL

The market shops should sell more items most items needed can't be found easily through player shops or by making them or getting them yourself.

=3

If possible, I think giving players the option to not appear on the dynmap would be nice

I just want to clarify that my less than stellar connection is almost entirely a ME issue, not a server issue! I'm using an old computer with poor internet which makes it hard to connect, so take my response with a grain of salt :D

The world size issue comes up in chat sometimes - I've answered that I would like it bigger, but that doesn't mean that the world size discourage me from playing. I understand budgeting / file size considerations! The economy: this is the first server I've played on with an economy, and it's a huge motivator for me to get a /p warp. I do feel like the presence of getting many things at spawn somewhat detracts from the point in having player-based shops. But equally I understand they might be there for players new to the server. Also, I love the crates - they're a lot of fun. And I like that sometimes you get "duds" from them - they end up being useful eventually! That said, grateful as I am to have won a full set of enchanted netherite armour, it has killed any plans to hunt for netherite in future..! But still glad to have it! Other than that, I love the server as is and am grateful to the peeps running it.

i am so close to the styaff i am the straff (font make fun of my typos)

This is sort of personal preference and I'm not sure if it's already on the server but there's a datapack where you can rename your armor "invisible" and it looks like you aren't wearing any so you can show off your skin! Just a suggestion ♥

Not really this is a very fun server

I love this server. Thank you for making a safe space. :)

I've filled this out once already, but I wanted to come back to add this bit of feedback: Perhaps could the pwrap cost be a little lower? Its so expensive especially considering the current economy. Maybe something like 75k instead?

This is a very nice server and I like it a lot, even though I have only been playing for a week or so. :>

Pets could be cheaper

- the copper crate in the black market doesn't work?

i kinda hate the buttons on ground everywhere idk why they just freak me out
Not that I can think of at the moment
my timing out is just my shit internet, nothing server side that im aware of

I have a lot of in between feelings on these questions/ an answer I would have given wasnt there.

yall are very cool and ik im not good at being active but this server brightens up my day when go on or look at the discord :)
yall are doing a great job on this server! it's not the style i prefer to play on (i'm a hardcore solo player & i like vanilla anarchy servers despite not hacking or griefing) but the chat is always friendly and nice, and everyone's builds are cool, i really like playing on here. i was briefly on the 1.16 version and it was the same. the plugins are a little hard to keep track of (for me) sometimes but it's worth it for the ambiance :^)

How are the crates? after a while i kept getting the same discs. recently i found a shop though and i think i can sell them. but it would be nice to change 3 items to get a little variety. Like next month swap out 3 items for something different.

this is just me but people have been really friendly even though im kind of the child of everyone a resource world where gamerules are different (ie: phantoms only spawning there but not in the main world) may be nice, that way theres a variety. Also, cycling items in and out of the crates may be nice because then you dont get bored of the same items after using iron/etc. key too many times!

Not really, love the server so far.

No

This is probably the most welcoming server I've ever joined, I've only been here for a little over a day and I feel at home!

I kind of wish we were allowed to make nether-roof-farms but I completely understand if there's a server/technical reason for the restriction like lag or something

World Size Addition Comment: As I do think that the current world size is good, however I do think that with each of the upcoming updates the world size could be expanded and the new chunks loaded with the new updates.. Once we reach a size that seems to large then a reset could be talked about for upcoming updates after that point.

If there's 2 players that are a couple, are they allowed to be in the server?
cookiw

This quiz had no options for things I am unfamiliar with.

I like themed build competitions with prizes

Dont have anything else, i like it like this!

this server is very swag 👍 would recommend